Devolution and the Union

Sarah Wollaston (Totnes, Conservative) Click here to watch Sarah speak

Surely it cannot be right for someone who is living with, say, heart disease or cancer to suffer because an extra Â£203 per head has been allocated elsewhere owing to an accident of geography. Surely all Members want a settlement that is fair to individuals with long-term conditions, wherever they live in our United Kingdom.

Â

Â

Dominic Raab (Esher and Walton, Conservative)

My hon. Friend—"who chairs the Health Committee"—is absolutely right, as usual. We must all agree that an accident of geography cannot mean that the voices and the needs of the elderly, the vulnerable, and NHS patients somehow count for less.

They Work For You

Hansard