Broadband

I met today with the Minister for Digital and Culture, Matt Hancock MP to directly make representations about the way that rural Devon has been disadvantaged by relatively slow progress of broadband compared to some other areas.