

International Trade: Food and Drink Sector

Sarah Wollaston Conservative, Totnes

More than Â£30 million-worth of fish was sold through Brixham fish market last year, the most valuable catch in England. Will the Minister meet me and industry representatives to discuss opportunities for expanding markets after we leave the European Union, as well as frictionless trade and smooth transfer across the border?

Mark Garnier Parliamentary Under-Secretary (Department for International Trade)

The Secretary of State is a Member of Parliament for the south-west, and he is happy to come and have that meeting, as am I as the departmental lead on the food and drink sector. Between the two of us, my hon. Friend Dr Wollaston may get twice as many meetings as she anticipates. We look forward to coming to help.

They Work For You